Ruggles bemoans allowing additional billboards

Fiscal court OKs new sign ordinance; City to vote next

By Shelley Spillman
News Editor

Though the majority of the Anderson County magistrates were on board with the newly proposed sign ordinance, Kenny Barnett and David Ruggles were not.

The second reading of the ordinance passed with a 4-2 vote with Ruggles and Barnett voting against it at a regular session Tuesday morning.

Ruggles unsuccessfully attempted to persuade his fellow magistrates to do away with billboards altogether because he feels they ruin the curbside appeal of Anderson County.

"I feel like I'm not doing my duty if I don't voice my opinion," said Ruggles. "Kentucky has unique features including rolling hills, green grass and I can't think of anything more disgusting than billboards. Billboards aren't attractive."

He argued that billboards have little to do with whether a business is profitable.

Though Ruggles admitted that there were a lot of time and man-hours put into the creation of the sign ordinance, he said that shouldn't be a justification alone for approving when there are major flaws such as the billboard portion. He said he

Jimmy Russell's illustrious 60-year career as a Wild Turkey master distiller was honored with a Kentucky Distillers' Association Board of Directors lifetime honorary membership Tuesday afternoon.

"Today we celebrate a co-worker, my friend and a living legend in the bourbon industry."

—Rick Robinson, vice president, U.S. product supply chain at Gruppo Campari

The event was a complete surprise to Russell, who was seen beaming when he walked in the Wild Turkey Visitor's Center full of friends and peers.

"Today we celebrate a co-worker, my friend and a living legend in the bourbon industry," said Rick Robinson, vice president, U.S. product supply chain at Gruppo Campari.

Russell, 79, began his career with Wild Turkey on Sept. 10, 1954. Throughout his time, he's seldom missed a day of work. Strong work ethic and integrity were words often used to describe Russell's character.

Donnell quits race for judge

RoBards now unopposed

By Lisa King
Landmark News Service

Shelby County Commonwealth Attorney Laura Donnell has pulled out of the race for District Judge Division I, leaving only one candidate in the race for that seat.

Donnell withdrew her candidacy on Aug. 22, meaning J.R. RoBards is now running unopposed for the seat vacated by Linda Armstrong in March when she retired, citing health reasons.

Donnell said that she pulled out because she believes she can do more good for the community as the commonwealth attorney.

'Steel Magnolias' back after 20 years

By Shelley Spillman
News Editor

The plucky drama "Steel Magnolias" will once again grace the stage, marking the first time the Anderson County Community Theatre has performed the play in 20 years.

"It's an all female cast full of strong, dynamic, intelligent and witty characters," said assistant director Shawn Reaves.

The play and popular 1989 movie follows a small group of girlfriends through their ups and downs in life. Stories, laughs and tears are shared at the iconic Truvy's Beauty Parlor in Louisiana.

Desire'e White Douglas, producer, said the group decided to perform "Steel Magnolias" for its popularity and hilarious one-liners. She said it has wanted to bring it back for quite some time.

Anderson County makes triumphant return to state fair

By Shelley Spillman
News Editor

After more than four years of being absent from the Kentucky State Fair Pride of the Counties, Anderson County returned with a bang.

The Anderson County Chamber of Commerce, the local state fair committee and around 118 volunteers who worked at the booth made the effort possible.

Pam Brough, president of the Anderson County Chamber of Commerce, said since she took office in 2011 many people asked her about participation in the state fair.

Brough said she put it out there to gauge the community's receptiveness to forming a committee to get Anderson County at the state fair again and was pleased at the was concerned if billboards were allowed, more would be added and it will all get out of hand quickly.

“This is one thing that will change the face of this community,” he said. “The more you commercialize, it makes the area less rural and ruins the quaintness a lot people love about Anderson County to benefit a small amount of people.”

From here, the joint city and county sign ordinance will go to the city for approval.

In other news, bids were opened for the new site of the clerk’s office at the former Town and Country Bank on Main Street.

Clerk’s office renovations

The $19,950 singular bid the county received for the lift with Transition Lift + Elevator based out of Lexington was approved with only David Montgomery voting against accepting the bid.

The one bid for the former Town and County Bank site renovations was $45,503.28 with Dadisman Builders, Inc. based in Louisville. This bid was approved in a 4-3 vote. Juretta Wells, Judge-Executive John Wayne Conway, Buddy Sims and Barnett voted in favor of approving the lift. Ruggles, Forrest Dale Stevens and Montgomery voted against the bid.

Fiscal Court approved the purchase of the Town & Country Bank property in November 2013 for the amount of $260,000, which was found to be $120,000 less than the appraised value in January.

In January, Conway said the plans called for about $60,000 of renovations to meet the needs of the county clerk’s office. The property will give more space for voting and record storage.

County Clerk Jason Denny said the building renovations will be completed by Oct. 17 or they will wait after the General Election on Nov. 4 to move to avoid difficulty for the 200 registered absentee voters.

Road Department

Also decided at the meeting, Tim Stewart was hired with the road department at $12 an hour. Fiscal court also approved the purchase of a 2015 Chevrolet Silverado crew cab for the road department in the amount of $28,175. Billy Powell Catlett, road department supervisor, said the other truck has exhaust issues and road department employees are often complaining of headaches.

Tax Rates

The motor vehicle/watercraft tax rate was reapproved to be the same rate as last year at $1.360 per $1,000 of assessment.

The tangible property tax rate was approved at $1.368 per $1,000 of assessment, and the Real Estate property rate was approved at the rate of $1.29 per $1,000 of assessment for his extensive knowledge of producing bourbon “the old fashioned way,” has garnered a great amount of respect from his peers over the years and earned several distinctions including longest tenured, active master distiller of any whiskey brand in the U.S. He was also inducted into the Kentucky Bourbon Hall of Fame with the inaugural class in 2001. Last year, he joined the Whisky Magazine Hall of Fame, which is a global tribute.

He is also the creator of Rare Breed, Kentucky Spirit, American Spirit, American Honey, Tradition and Tribute to name a few.

The lifelong Anderson County resident initially envisioned his life in high school as a professional basketball player, but fell into a career he was born to do as a master distiller and brand ambassador for Wild Turkey, captivating and educating people about his true passion, bourbon.

Russell’s son, Eddie, is also a Wild Turkey master distiller. The two are one of the few known father and son master bourbon distillers in the U.S. Eddie even created a commemorative Diamond Anniversary limited-edition bourbon that was released in April.

A short video was shown to attempt captures Russell’s career and the contributions he’s made to the bourbon industry.

Russell said “He’s never worked a day in his life” because he’s truly loved what he does for a living. He thanked everyone for their kind words and support.

level of support she received.

The committee started planning in January, and a total of $4,450 was raised through fundraisers. The total booth rental space, printing fees for promotional material and everything else to put together the booth cost a total of $3,231, which allowed for $1,219 to put back for next year.

Brough had around 10,000 brochures and ran out before the week was up.

There was also a gift basket full of items from several local businesses and organizations in Anderson County. The handmade basket was valued at more than $1,000, which was given away as a raffle prize.

Brough estimated that there were 20,000-25,000 visitors at the Anderson County booth.

She emphasized that Anderson County’s return to the state fair was a community effort.

“Our 118 volunteers did a phenomenal job at promoting the community. It really shows many people care about the community,” said Brough.

Committee member Gabe Uebel said it also shows that many people aren’t satisfied with Anderson County being a bedroom community anymore.

Uebel said Anderson County is growing to be more “outwardly focused” in not just tourism and building business but also in showcasing the community.

He said it was important to the committee to go back to the fair but “in a big way.”

Through organization and pulling everyone in the same direction, Uebel said they have set the tone of future involvement in the fair but also to set up metrics to monitor the people they’ve touched base with and make sure there is a return on the investment.

Though there is room for improvement, Uebel said it was a great starting point. He said the fair is just one of many ways the committee hopes to highlight Anderson County in the future.

“There is no stopping what a few dedicated citizens can get done,” he said. “When we win as community, we all win.”

Anyone interested in being involved in the state fair committee can attend a meeting on Monday, Oct. 22, at 8:30 a.m., which will be held at the Chamber of Commerce office.

and can usually quote a favorite line,” said Douglas.

The group has been practicing for weeks at Alton Baptist Church for the play at Anderson County High School opening Friday, Sept. 5. Since the Anderson Community Theatre doesn’t have a building of its own, Douglas said she was grateful for Alton Baptist and the high school for giving it a space to perform and practice.

Douglas plays the role of Ouiser Boudreaux, who she describes as “a disgruntled, lovely, old woman who is full of grit.”

“I love her character. She reminds me of my mother and grandmother because they are full of spunk,” she said.

Douglas said she enjoys how all the women are complex characters who undergo changes throughout the play, including Ouiser who softens up toward the end.

For Angie Robinson, who plays the role of Truvy Jones, “Steel Magnolias” is a family legacy. Her mother, Marlene Nakagawa, played the role of Ouiser 20 years ago with the Anderson Community Theatre.

Robinson said many of the props and costume jewelry was borrowed from her mother.

“Mom’s advice was just to have fun and enjoy myself,” said Robinson. “She’s always been my biggest fan for sure.”

Catherine Partlow plays the role of Clairee Belcher.

“I like Clairee because she’s a smart mouth comic,” said Belcher. “She feels like she’s old enough to speak her mind.”

She said Clairee doesn’t talk a ton but when she does it’s always memorable and full of hilarious zingers like, “well, you know what they say: if you don’t have anything nice to say about anybody, come sit by me!”

Abby Parrish, a junior at Anderson County High School, plays the timid hairstylist Annelle Dupuy Desoto. The new stylist at Truvy’s Beauty Parlor is shy and anxious around the women at first but grows to find enduring friendships.

Parrish said has acted in several plays at the high school, but until now she’s never been a lead character. She said she identifies a lot with Annelle’s personality because she considers herself to be shy.

The mother-daughter duo of M’Lynn Eatenton and Shelby Eatenton Lacherie are played by real life mother and daughter Lisa Dorman and Elizabeth Jones.

Jones, a senior at Anderson County High School, said she loves Shelby’s kind-hearted nature.

“She cares for everyone,” said Jones.

Dorman said she can relate a lot to M’Lynn’s character and taking on the role with her real life daughter just made all those maternal feelings even more real to her.

“I can relate to her looking out for the best interests of her child. It’s very emotional,” said Dorman.

Reaves argues that it’s the emotional authenticity of “Steel Magnolias” that has made it such a classic over the years.

“‘Steel Magnolias’ has just every range of emotions in it. You’ll laugh, you’ll cry,” said Reaves.

He credits the actresses for bringing the characters to life.

Anderson County Community Theatre production of “Steel Magnolias” will take place on Sept. 5, 6, 7 and 12, 13, and 14 at the Anderson County High School theater. The Friday and Saturday performances are at 8 p.m. and the Sunday matinee performances are at 2 p.m. General admission is $10. For groups of eight or more tickets are $8.

have made the decision to withdraw my candidacy for District Court Judge Division 1,” she said. “While I would consider it an honor to serve as your district court judge, work remains to be done in my current position as your commonwealth’s attorney. I have dedicated the last 19 years of my career to prosecuting criminals and assisting victims of crime. The safety of our communities remains my priority, and I believe remaining your commonwealth’s attorney will allow me the opportunity to continue in this endeavor. I would like to thank my family and friends for all of their support and prayers. It is my continued honor to serve our community.”

Donnell filed to run for the judge’s seat at literally the last minute, on the last day to file to run for office in January.

Armstrong withdrew from the race just before that, and RoBards – who is her son-in-law – filed to run for the seat. There were no other candidates at that point.

Donnell said at the time that she was displeased with Armstrong’s decision to withdraw at the last moment and questioned the integrity of the move.

“An opportunity arose that has allowed me to seek the office of District Judge, Division 1, and give the voters a choice, as opposed to Judge Armstrong’s attempt to orchestrate the outcome of the election and ensure her son-in-law the office by circumventing the democratic process,” Donnell said in a statement to The Sentinel-News at that time.

Armstrong’s sudden retirement left a void on the district court bench, and District Judge Donna Dutton struggled to fill the heavy caseload. Betty Springate of Lawrenceburg, a former assistant county attorney and county attorney for Anderson County, was appointed in early July to serve Armstrong’s term for the remainder of the year. Springate will not be on the ballot in the November general election and will serve only until the new judge elected in November takes the bench in January 2015. RoBards is now unopposed in District 1; Dutton will be challenged by attorney Emily Farrar-Crockett for the District II seat, in November. RoBards said that he was surprised to hear that Donnell had withdrawn from the race. “I certainly hope that everything is going well for her,” he said. Nathan Riggs, president of the Shelby County Bar Association, said he was also surprised to hear of Donnell’s move, but he wishes her well. “We were lucky to have two good candidates for district judge, and now we are left with a good judge and a good commonwealth attorney,” he said. Riggs said that he plans to gather some attorneys familiar with district court proceedings to meet with RoBards, who is an estate attorney, to familiarize him with that scenario. “He is a bright, intelligent individual, and I know he’ll do well,” he said. Administrative Office of the Court officials said that training for all circuit and district judges elected in the 2014 general election will attend a New Judges Orientation Dec. 7-11 at the AOC headquarters in Frankfort. “The orientation schedule is still being finalized, but the topics typically include judicial ethics and conduct, pretrial and bail, civil proceedings, criminal issues, jury management, case management, holding court, discovery, pretrial issues and summary judgment, probate, and family law matters such as divorce, adoption and termination of parental rights,” said Leigh Anne Hiatt, communications director for the AOC.

Addressing RoBards’ scenario, she said: “The AOC will not hold separate orientations for judges who were unopposed. The newly elected judge for the 53rd District, Division 1, will take office the first Monday in January, like all the new judges. Judge Springate will fill that seat until then.” RoBards said he still plans to do some campaigning, however. “I really worked hard, and met a lot of good people in three counties,” he said. “I know it’s going to be a transition for me, but I’m really looking forward to serving as district judge; it’s a big responsibility, but it’s certainly an honor and a privilege.”

Two locals to compete in Senior Games this week

By Shelley Spillman
News Editor

Kathy Wright, a retired Anderson County High School assistant principal, has been practicing at Juniper Hills Golf Course in Frankfort in preparation for the Kentucky Senior Games in Frankfort this week. Wright, 56, has been playing golf since she was in high school. As a former head softball coach, assistant golf coach and assistant basketball coach at the high school, Wright is a major proponent of fitness. “I’m a firm believer in everyone finding a lifetime sport for their health, camaraderie and self-discipline,” said Wright. “Everybody needs something to keep them active.” Wright and Greg Higgins are the two Anderson County residents who will compete in the Senior Games sponsored by the United Way of Franklin County. Higgins will compete in tennis. Higgins did not respond to reporter’s calls and emails before deadline. There are a total of 22 different sections to compete in including archery, badminton, basketball, bowling, cycling, golf, horseshoes, pick-leball, race walk, road race, racquetball, shuffleboard, softball, swimming, table tennis, tennis, track and field, and volleyball. The top four finishers in each event in each age group in individual competitions and the top three in team competitions of volleyball, softball and basketball will go on to the National Senior Games in Minneapolis. Linda Osborn, office manager for the United Way of Franklin County, said the goal of the Kentucky Senior Games is to maintain or improve the physical, mental and emotional health of all Kentucky seniors and to implement a year-round program of fitness and health promotion for Kentuckians 50 years of age and older. Several studies boast of the health benefits of seniors remaining active. A University of Texas study released last year found that exercise for an hour three times a week can improve memory and brain health in as quickly as six weeks for persons ranging in age 57 to 75. According to the American Association of Retired Persons, there is a reason why seniors should be targeted for physical activity. Only 40 percent of people between 45 and 64 are considered sedentary. For people older than 64, that jumps to 60 percent. Exercise is reported to have several other benefits for seniors including prevention of disease, improved healing, improved quality of life, increased balance and life expectancy. Seniors from all over Kentucky will compete in the Senior Games this week. Osborn said the competitors range in experience from former Olympic athletes to seniors just participating for fun. Osborn said she has been amazed by the competitors. She said one of which is a 96-yr-old woman from Louisville, competing in the 50-meter dash and track and field. Another is a man from Ohio who recently completed his cancer treatments. For Wright, she wants to participate in the senior games “just for fun.” She said golf is a great stress relief for her, but “it’d be nice to bring home a medal.”

An open letter to those suffering from depression

To Whom It May Concern:

I could throw some statistic at you like "1-in-10 Americans reportedly suffer from depression," but it wouldn't matter. I could tell you "chin up, things will get better," but right now you wouldn't believe me anyway.

I can tell you that I understand how you feel and that you are not alone. I suspect there are many others that are like you, but they're too embarrassed to say so.

I, too, have suffered from the cold, metallic grip of depression. I know what it's like to be in a room full of people and still feel alone. You'd give anything to feel the warmth of company without having to go through the mental gymnastics of plastering on a fake smile just so you don't have to be berated with "are you OK?" or "what's wrong?"

It's not their fault. Most people don't know how to deal with people who suffer from depression. Even in our daily interactions people stop and ask, "How are you doing?" without sticking around long enough to hear anything other than a one-word utterance of "fine."

They can only hear the same stories for so long before they tell you "OK, it's time to move forward now," like you're a child who's been pretending to be sick to avoid going to school. If only it was that easy to "snap out of it," but it's like a mental parasite has taken over and set up shop. No matter how hard you try, you can't seem to get the unwelcome tenant evicted.

Don't be mad at your friends and family. Don't hate them for having the happiness that eludes you. They're trying to help, but they just don't know what to say. They don't realize that you don't need for them to say anything at all but just to listen. Just to feel like you exist, like you matter to someone.

It does get better; give it time. I understand though that giving depression time when a day with it can feel like carrying around the weight of a giant boulder seems impossible, but you can.

Sometimes when I think about my time with depression it seems so far away, like I'm at the fair soaring on one of those giant swings, examining the bad memories of someone else's life. Sometimes when I have a bad day and start doubting myself, I can feel black fog of depression permeating my brain, trying to find a way back in, but I immediately recognize the intruder and sent it packing. Like I said, it's a parasite, it's always looking for a host to attach to.

If you're not ready to talk to people you know about this or you just want some help, visit suicide.org or kentuckysuicideprevention.org. The national suicide prevention lifeline is 800-273-TALK.

You'll find that you are a lot stronger than you may even realize now. You can make it out of this, and one day the clouds will part and you'll be able to see the sun again. Let me tell you the sun feels glorious on your skin after a longtime in darkness.

Sincerely,

Shelley Spillman

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

I enjoyed the the tribute to Robin Williams' life

To the editor:

The Robin Williams' tribute was very enjoyable. Hello, my name is Kenneth Cirillo and I am part of Lawrenceburg's Boy Scout troop.

I have recently started a merit badge in which one of the requirements is to contact a local newspaper and share my opinion on an article.

Why I am writing is to tell my opinion on the Robin Williams piece. I really believe it was well written and conveys a great message. I admire the way it has a great emotional appeal and thought it was a great piece.

I'm not the greatest at writing how I feel about something, but I can notice when someone is, and I believe this does exactly that.

Pesticide container recycling offered

The Anderson County Extension Service along with the Kentucky Department of Agriculture will be offering a Pesticide Rinse and Return Program at the Anderson County Extension Office from 9 a.m. to noon on Monday, Sept. 22.

This program allows for the proper recycling of these pesticide containers. This reduces the amount of material entering the landfill or being disposed of by other means. The Rinse and Return Program has collected 956,503 pounds of pesticide containers since its inception with more than 100 counties participating.

Here are the steps necessary for you to bring your empty pesticide container to be recycled. First the containers need to be pressure rinsed. Remove the cover then empty the pesticide into the spray tank and let the container drain for 30 seconds.

Continue holding the container upside down over the spray tank opening so rinsate will run into the spray tank. Insert a nozzle into the container and rinse for the length of time recommended by the manufacturer (generally 30 seconds or more).

It's then recommended that containers be triple rinsed. One practice is to fill the container 10 to 20 percent full of water or rinse solution. Secure the lid or cover on the container and swirl the container to rinse all inside surfaces. Add to the sprayer tank and let it drain for 30 seconds more. Continue for up to three rinses. Then puncture the container if you can.

Bring all containers with the lids removed to our office for inspection before drop off at the Kentucky Department of Agriculture and they will recycle the containers from there.

This is a free service and is scheduled each year to help farmers dispose of empty pesticide containers.

Fall means pumpkins and yummy, crisp apples

Happy September. The minutes are ticking away and fall will be here before you know it. Yes, we are losing more than two minutes of daylight each day and those minutes will multiply, as the autumnal equinox grows closer. The leaves will start to fall before we know it.

Crisp apples come with the crisp leaves. I love fresh apples and the cider that comes with them. One of the simplest ways to eat healthier is to include apples in your diet. Out of the top 10 healthiest foods, they are the tops.

Apples are just a powerhouse of nutrients, providing vitamin C, B, phytonutrients and fiber. They're good for your brain because they provide cell protection, reducing the risk of neurodegenerative disorders like dementia.

Apples can also reduce the risk of stroke and bad cholesterol. If you're looking to drop a few pounds, they can help with that as well. There are more healthful benefits, but all you have to do is eat at least three apples a week to get the benefits. Besides, they taste great.

There are so many varieties of apples; it's hard to pick a favorite. Some I like for cooking, some for just fresh eating. Next time you go to the orchard, or the store, try picking up several different kinds to eat.

A mix of varieties, cut up into pieces, can also make a delicious salad, especially when it's a mix of sweet and sour. Dribble a little local honey on top, and it's almost sinfully healthy.

This is also the time for pumpkins. Orange is everywhere. Pumpkins are in the same family as cucumbers. How cool is that! They are also low in calories like

I sure hope it's clear on the night of Sept. 8. That's the full harvest moon. Think of it as a big pumpkin in the sky. Soon the nighttime temperatures will be as crisp as those apples. We'll be watching to see how many leaves hang onto the trees to forecast our winter. The longer they hang the worse it will be.

Since it is still August as I write, I can't tell you how many fogs we've had in August. Remember, the number of fogs in August forecast the number of big snow dumps we will get this winter. So far, it's looking better than last year, but don't quote me yet.

Now get out there! The temperatures will soon cool down. Enjoy the small laundry loads while they last and finish up that canning! Exercise that body while doing yard work. At least we can still see for a few hours after we get home from work.

Happy growing.

Federal report gives detailed insight on expense of raising children

The USDA Center for Nutrition Policy and Promotion recently released the annual report on children by families for 2013. It's a 31-page report with lots of details.

Child-rearing expenses vary considerably by household income. Families who have more, will pay more. The biggest jump in expenses comes with families who have more than $106,540 annual income.

There isn't a big difference between families who have gross income of $61,530 and those who have less than $106,540 but more than $61,530.

Housing is the biggest expense across all income groups, about 30 to 33 percent of total expense for a child in a two child, two-parent family. Child care/education and food were the next largest average expenditures on a child, accounting for 18 and 16 percent of total child-rearing expenses. Total expenses increase as children get older.

It's more expensive to raise children in the Northeast followed by urban West and urban Midwest. Families in the urban South and rural areas had the lowest child-rearing expenses.

We spend more per child if we have fewer children. On average a two-parent family with one child spends 25 percent more on the one child than per child cost for two children. A family with three or more children spends about 22 percent less on each child than parents who have two children.

Single-parent homes tended to spend less per child than two parent homes. Most single parents were in the lower income category of $61,530 or less gross income.

The cost of raising a child included children through age 17. It didn't include any cost for college or other expenses paid by parents after age 17.

Expenses that were paid by other people outside the household, including government support programs such as public education, Medicaid, and subsidized school meals weren't included. Indirect costs such as time, foregone earnings and career opportunities also weren't included.

Basics expenses included housing costs, food (which included SNAP purchases), transportation, clothing, health care, childcare and education, and miscellaneous expenses. Families studied included 11,800 two-parent families and 3,350 single-parent families. Most single-parent families (85 percent) were headed by a woman. Six age categories were studied (3-year span in each category.)

The average expenses for raising a child from birth through age 17 were as follows: 30 percent housing, 18 percent child care and education, 16 percent food, 14 percent transportation, 8 percent miscellaneous, 8 percent healthcare, and 6 percent clothing.

PINE PLANTERS

Do you know who these boys are? They are planting loblolly pines in gullies to stop erosion of the soil on John Mitchell's farm, according to Ed Ruggles. Ruggles was agricultural extension agent for Anderson County, and this occurred about the time he came. If you can identify the people in this photo, please email the information to Janie Bowen at jbowen@theandersonnews.com or call her at 502-839-6906.

KENT STEVENS WENT HOME TO WESTERN ANDERSON

Compiled by Janie Bowen
jbowen@theandersonnews.com

50 YEARS AGO August 6, 1964 New officers

New officers of Anderson Women's Missionary Union were elected at the July meeting held at Mount Pleasant Baptist Church.

Mrs. A.C. Overall was named president, and Mrs. Roy Robinson was named vice president. Mrs. Howard Stamper was the new secretary; Mrs. Otis Corn, treasurer; Mrs. Coleman Peach, community missions chairman; Mrs. Estill McGurk, prayer chairman; Mrs. E. Hatchett, stewardship chairman; Mrs. Grace Cranfill, mission study chairman; Mrs. Walter Cunningham, G.A. director; Mrs. Myron Bond, Y.W.A. director; and Mrs. Otis Corn, Sunbeam director.

Thursday, Aug. 13, 1964 Pick a peck

Pick a peck of pickled peppers ... and you probably would never find one in the shape of a teapot like the one Mrs. J. L. Sherwood found in her garden on North Main Street.

Measuring almost five inches in height the green pepper had the usual ribbed heavy part and then off to one side a spout-shaped neck.

Clyde Kennerly brought it to the News.

To enter college

Ronald Taylor, son of Onis Taylor of Sinai, was to enter Eastern Kentucky State College in September. He planned to major in elementary education and minor in United States history.

He graduated from Western High School in the spring and had enlisted in the U.S. Naval Reserves for four years. He was taking Boatswain Mate training and in the summer of 1965 would go to Newport, Rhode Island, for eight weeks of officer's training.

Grocery shopping

Edwards' bologna was 39 cents a pound when you bought it by the piece at Model Market. You could also get two heads of crisp lettuce for 29 cents.

Whole fryers were 25 cents a pound at A&P Supermarkets. A dozen Ball fruit jars were $1.29 for quarts and $1.09 for pints.

Fingers cut

Mrs. Hollie Gash severely cut two fingers of her left hand Wednesday night when she shut the garage door on them.

No polio reported

Kentucky had passed its 20th month without a case of polio reported.

The State Health Department said more than six million doses of Sabin oral vaccine had been distributed.

Burns hand

Mrs. Bill Davenport suffered burns to her right hand when she picked up a skillet of hot grease.

According to Fire Chief Truman Birdwhistell, she spilled some of the grease on the floor and in her pain and excitement must have put it back on the stove.

It was on fire when the firemen reached the home. Smoke and grease damage was done to the kitchen.

30 YEARS AGO Thursday, August 9, 1984 Back home

Kent Stevens 'went home' to be principal of Western Anderson School.

"It's a dream come true for me," said the 1969 Western High graduate the morning after Anderson County Board of Education selected him over two other applicants for the vacancy created by the resignation of Charles Scott.

Demolishing Doug

Doug Baker was pictured demolishing the old "City Cab" building. The small building had stood on the lot on Jackson Alley for as long as the 27-year-old could remember. It was thought to have been built in the 1940s, according to Elliott Garrison, owner of the building adjacent to the lot.

Big fish story

George Sewell, 5, was pictured showing his cousin, John Harrison, 8, the four-and-a-half pound bass he had caught in a farm pond in Mercer County. According to the boys' grandfather, Deputy Jailer Raymond Houpp of Brenda Drive, George first hooked a small bass and while he was reeling it in the larger fish swallowed it.

Thursday, Aug. 16, 1984 Gets Masters Degree

Lala Michelle Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Thomas Jr., received her masters of Science degree in urban affairs and public policy analysis from Southern Illinois University.

Elbert Smith Alexander was born Oct. 2, 1898, in the McBrayer section of Anderson County. He died Aug. 12, 1938. He was the son of James William Alexander, and great-great-grandson of William Alexander, a Revolutionary soldier and early pioneer of Anderson County.

Elbert grew up on the family farm along Salt River near the Anderson-Mercer County line. His name appeared on the 1910 Mercer County census as an 11-year-old boy.

He was married to Miss Bessie Susan Bell, and they raised four children; Sarah Francis, William Thomas, Opal, and John Burton.

Elbert was one of five brothers, four of whom served in the military. Details of his service are yet to be researched, but a photograph in uniform exists and is in the possession of his nephew, Henry Alexander of Fayette County.

Elbert lived most of his adult life in Anderson County, and owned a farm and lived along U.S. 127 South, near McCall's Spring. Upon his death, he was laid to rest in nearby Hebron Church Cemetery.

Jesus never promised the Christian life to be an easy one

In the Aug. 27 edition of "Christianity Today," author and Intervarsity campus minster Tish Warren's article entitled "The Wrong Kind of Christian," recounts her experience at Vanderbilt University when the decision was made kick her organization off campus.

Citing charges of so-called "creedal discrimination," the university's new policy officially bans any religious group that requires its membership and/or leaders hold to a particular theological conviction.

So for Intervarsity to require its leadership hold to orthodox Christian doctrine view was considered discrimination and thus not allowed.

The fact that a university would disallow a Christian group to operate on its campus is not surprising, given the current climate of intolerance that exists toward any person or group that holds to historic Christian doctrine, especially as it relates to sexual autonomy.

What is surprising to Warren however, and to so many other Christians, is that we can never be relevant enough to be accepted by secular culture.

She had taken this for granted, admitting that she thought that she and her friends were progressive enough that they could disagree with their unbelieving friends and remain on, in her words, "the best of terms."

But as the saying goes "all

Brian Owens
Faith columnist

good things must come to an end," and, in this case, it was her acceptance by the cultural elite at Vanderbilt University.

Now she was experiencing what conservative, Bible-believing Christians have been dealing with for some time - intolerance in the name of societal progress.

If you do not agree with what the broader culture says is the new normal, you are not just intolerant; you are now an evil person that does not deserve to have a voice in the public square.

It's one thing to be weird but accepted; it's quite another to be considered dangerous. But this is where Christians are increasingly finding themselves.

We cannot continue to draw on our centuries of benevolence either; to quote

Warren: "It didn't matter to them of we were politically or racially diverse, if we cared about the environment or built Habitat homes.

It didn't matter if our students were top in their fields and some of the kindest, most thoughtful, most compassionate leaders on campus. There was a line in the sand, and we fell on the wrong side of it."

Indeed, there is a line in the sand, but we are not on the wrong side of it, just like we are not on the wrong side of history.

If we are going to hold to a historic, Judeo-Christian worldview and if our creeds reflect an unflinching adherence to the Bible as God's infallible Word, then we are going to increasingly find ourselves on the outs with the world, but that does not mean we are in the wrong.

Jesus tells us that we can expect trouble for aligning ourselves with him. We can expect to be hated for following him and preaching his truth.

Even in doing good we will be considered suspect. We can expect have opposition and discomfort. Estrangement, at best, and persecution, at worst, should not be surprising.

Instead of seeking to be respected, perhaps we should embrace the scorn of the cross and give up our notion of respectability.

That is not to say we should be hateful and antagonistic toward those who disagree with us, but we should instead bear the disdain the world has for us with the joy that we are counted worthy to suffer, in any way, for our Savior.

THEY CAME TO MY DOOR

Recently, a Jehovah's Witness came to my door and left me a little tract, "Where can we find answers to life's big questions?" I appreciate the person showing an interest in my reading their material, and I read every line. In their tract, they pointed me to all kinds of so-called helps for me to understand the Bible better. But to get the truths of their doctrine, you would have to read their bible, "The New World Translation."

According to their belief, Jesus is a mighty one, but not God. In their Bible, in John 1:1 Christ is "a god" but not "the God." They would have us to believe that Jesus and God were never equal.

The deity of Christ is one of the central themes of the Bible. The person who refuses to believe in the deity of Christ is in reality anti-Christ. Philippians 2:5-11 tells us that Jesus, who existed as God, became a humble servant (man) so that he could die on the cross for our eternal salvation.

The Jews in John 10 understood exactly what Jesus was claiming, that he claimed to be equal with God, and therefore they sought to stone Him. Jesus said in verse 30 of John 10, "I and My Father are one." Jesus was saying plainly, that He and the Father were one in nature, essence and purpose.

Jehovah's Witnesses are made up of a lot of very sincere and humble people, but their false teaching concerning Christ is enough to disregard their plea for faith in THEIR FAITH.

Tracy Briscoe sings during the Christmas Homecoming concert at Sand Spring Baptist Church last December. A fixture around Anderson County sports, Briscoe will be remembered even more for his vibrant faith than his football prowess.

Lasting Legacy

Someone was missing from the sideline when Anderson County opened the home football season Friday night.

As I thought about that fact during the Anderson's win over George Rogers Clark, little did I realize the eerie coincidence that the night the Bearcats opened what they hope will be another great season would be on the final day of Tracy Briscoe's life.

Even though Tracy, a local physical therapist who offered his services at Anderson games, had missed a few over the last few years, my knowing that he had been seriously ill over the last few weeks made that fact so difficult to fathom.

As I exchanged pleasantries with acquaintances from other media outlets working the contest, I could not help but think about the many times Tracy Briscoe and I carried on conversations lasting an entire game.

Through football, Tracy became a friend, yet I can't say we were close. I can't even remember having a cup of coffee together somewhere along the way. But we talked.

And talked a lot over the last few years.

You see, working the sidelines as a member of the media can actually be a lonely place. There is action going on in front of you but precious few to chat with between the plays.

Tracy Briscoe and I changed the world several times under the Friday Night Lights.

I came to really respect this young man over time as it was obvious he had a deep knowledge of the game. While I probably did not see him play over two or three times - he finished his Anderson career before I started writing - I knew he was proud of those accomplishments. He even had that No. 11 that he wore as a Bearcat in the e-mail address he gave me several years back.

Fans recognized his ability when he was named as a member of the Best of the Bearcats team, an all-time local all-star team The Anderson News sponsored in 2007.

Suffice it to say his vote totals were very strong in his favor.

Over time, I came to realize why that was the case and why I respected him so. There is no doubt Tracy was an outstanding end and linebacker, but he was even a better person, one that was truly loved and respected by many in his hometown.

I am sure there are many photos of Tracy playing football or basketball during his years at Anderson County High School.

Those memories will always be strong.

But I am also sure of this: Tracy will be remembered more for who he was. As acute myeloid leukemia drained life from this vibrant young man, I saw Facebook posts from those closest to him saying things like "Trace is ready."

Only 48 years old, lots of life supposed to be in front of him, but friends simply saying, "Trace is ready."

It is fitting that the last time I remember talking with Tracy Briscoe was not on the sideline of an Anderson County football game, but at his home church, Sand Spring Baptist.

His uncle, Larry Briscoe, had

Mind games: Never-say-die attitude propels Bearcat romp

Line controls Clark in season-opening win

By John Herndon
Sports Editor

Since that day he came home to lead the Anderson County High School football program, Mark Peach has preached the mind is where the champions are separated from those who are merely good.

Friday night, it was no exception.

The Bearcats were never seriously threatened in a 42-6 win over George Rogers Clark in the Bearcats' season opener. They methodically wore the visitors down with an offensive line that punished the Cardinals and a spread-the-wealth attack that saw three Bearcats run for at least 70 yards and four different runners reach the end zone.

But mostly it was a matter of the mind. Peach has gotten through.

"Did you see Ryan

Martin catch that kid?" Peach said of a play midway through the fourth quarter.

The Anderson student section had been chanting, "This one's over!" long before Clark's Jordan Conner broke off a 65-yard run to the Anderson 22. Martin somehow caught Conner from behind and the Anderson defense refused to let Clark top the drive with a score.

"That is a 'never-say-die' attitude. If you are willing to do that, you have a chance to be part of something special." Friday night's win would never make a highlight reel of the spectacular.

But it was a night overflowing with opportunities for the Bearcats to show they are worthy of championships.

The Bearcat line simply dominated, bringing a big smile to Peach, who was an all-state linemen at Anderson nearly 30 years ago. His analysis was simple, but Peach's smile underscored its accuracy.

"We were able to run the ball, they weren't able to run the ball," he said.

The Bearcats pounded Clark for 297 yards on the ground, while limiting the visitors to 74, meaning Clark netted just nine yards rushing other than Conner's long jaunt.

Clark saw its record drop to 1-1.

"This was the best I have seen our offense play," said Anderson quarterback Zachary Carmichael, a three-year starter. "The line was just knocking people down and making big holes."

Carmichael led Anderson in rushing with 84 yards by ground and scored two touch-

South Oldham to give Bearcats stern test Friday night

Dragons going for third straight district crown, first win in series

By John Herndon
Sports Editor

Chances are the story lines will be different around the Anderson County and South Oldham football camps this week.

The programs, both of which have been climbing the Class 5A football ladder in recent years, tangle with each other Friday, Sept. 5, in Crestwood. Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

Anderson County head coach Mark Peach is undoubtedly telling his troops that this South Oldham team is not the same one that perhaps an older brother or friend slapped around - think 49-7 and 59-13 in successive games - a few years ago. It's not even close.

"They are an outstanding football team," Peach says.

All he should need to convince anyone of that assessment is a line-score from the Dragons' season-opener last Friday night. In that one, South ripped Collins, the defending state Class 4A champion, 32-17.

It might not have been a surprise, Peach said.

"We have already taken a peek at South a little bit," Peach said a few moments after his team had routed George Rogers Clark Friday. "Jamie Reed is a fantastic football coach."

And Peach can look back at history to see exactly what Reed has brought to South Oldham.

In 2008, Anderson rolled to the aforementioned 59-13 win. The following season, the Bearcats played arguably their worst game of the sea-

GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL GOLF

Lady Bearcats sticking to basics as new coach takes over

By John Herndon

Robbie Hanks just felt it was time to give back to the game he loves.

A former PGA pro at Lakeside Golf Course in Lexington, Hanks recently took over the reins of the Anderson County High School girls' golf team two weeks into the season. It's been a learning experience for Hanks.

"I remember when I was growing up and seeing Jack Ridge out here," Hanks says of the former owner of what was then known as Bob-O-Link Golf Course. Now named Wild Turkey Trace, the course serves as the home for the Anderson teams.

"I kind of wanted to give back to golf and I had some experience teaching," Hanks said.

Hanks took over after Todd Hyatt resigned the post just as the season was getting underway. Hyatt's last day leading the team was Aug. 16, when the Lady Bearcats hosted the JOY Invitational.

by former Anderson softball star Courtney Turpin who just graduated from Campbellsville University in the spring. Turpin played golf while in high school.

While Anderson has never been a power in girls' golf since adding the program in 2002, Hanks does believe there is potential to become stronger. "There have been some good golfers come through here: Kaitlyn Riley, Taylor Gillis, Anna-Marie Hyatt,"

Hanks says of recent Lady Bearcats who have gone on to play the sport in college. "We just need more kids out here."

The current edition of Lady Bearcat golf has just enough golfers - five - to schedule varsity matches, but Hanks says there are some potentially strong golfers on the team. "I tell them this is just like everything else. If you want to get better, you have to work at it."

Riley, who qualified for the state golf tournament as an individual all four years of her high school career, is now at the University of the Cumberland.

Junior Christina Montgomery is the most experienced Lady Bearcat and has been the team's strongest golfer in the first half of the high school season. "She has that potential," Hanks said of Montgomery's potential to reach a level of success comparable to Riley, Gillis or Hyatt.

RECORD SETTING NIGHT

Former Anderson County quarterback Jacob Russell fires a pass for Campbellsville University in Thursday's game with Lindsey Wilson. Russell set several Campbellsville records, but the Tigers fell, 44-40.

Russell sets Tiger passing marks

Anderson native named MSC Player of Week in Campbellsville debut

From staff reports

Former Anderson County quarterback Jacob Russell had a record-setting night in his first action at Campbellsville University. However, the Tigers came up short, 44-40, in their bid to upset Mid-South Conference foe Lindsey Wilson, ranked No. 18 in the NAIA pre-season poll.

For his effort, Russell was named one of three Mid-South Conference Players of the Week, conference officials announced Monday.

Russell, a senior transfer, threw for 414 yards and five touchdowns, both school records that had been on the books since 2008. Russell completed 26-of-39 passes in his first game action since 2010, when he was a freshman at Eastern Kentucky University.

Russell and redshirt freshman Tajh Milliken shared signal-calling duties in the first quarter Russell took over for the final three frames. In the third quarter, Russell connected with Jeffersonstown product Demytreus Gipson for a 97-yard scoring pass, the longest pass in Campbellsville history.

"I know Jake had a great night but I also know Tajh could come in and have a great night tomorrow," said Campbellsville coach Perry Thomas. "It could be one of those things that whoever is hot goes and we will have to assess that later on. I thought Jake stepped up and had a great night. I thought we competed well and just got beat by a great team. It was their night."

Russell, who had previously played at Eastern Kentucky and the University of Kentucky, transferred to Campbellsville last year and had played on the Tigers' baseball team in the spring. He graduated from Anderson County, where he was a four-year starter at quarterback, in 2010.

PRESIDENT'S CUP CHAMP!

Anna-Marie Hyatt tees off during the President's Cup match at Twin Pines Golf Course Sunday. She took individual honors as her Campbellsville University team won the title.

Hyatt leads Campbellsville to tourney win

From staff reports

Anderson County resident Anna-Marie Hyatt led the Campbellsville University women's golf team to the championship of the 2014 President's Cup of the Battle for Highway 55 on Sunday.

Hyatt shot a 155 (79-76) on the Twin Pines Golf Course in Columbia, Kentucky, for her first individual win as a collegian. In the final round, Hyatt had five 3-putts and still shot a 76. She finished two strokes ahead of teammate Ashley Goodin.

The Lady Tigers defeated Lindsey Wilson 7.5 to 3.5 in the Ryder Cup-style match.

HERNDON

invited me to attend the church's Christmas Homecoming celebration last December. Jeff Stice, a renowned gospel pianist, would be part of the program as would several local singers.

Tracy Briscoe was one of those performers. His faith was radiant as he presented his message in song that night.

Sunday, one of Tracy's best friends, Anderson County Assistant Superintendent of Schools Derek Shouse, posted on his Facebook account, "Each time we visited, he lifted me with hope that only comes from a personal relationship with Jesus Christ. I'm convinced God used Tracy to help me grow and learn how to be a better friend. "He knew his relationship with the Savior and had no reason to fear. He said, 'There is NO fear, when you KNOW Christ.' That's the message I am compelled to share from my friend, teammate, and indeed brother in Christ."

And for that, more than any touchdown he ever scored, Tracy Briscoe's legacy will live on.

Somehow, I think the Tracy Briscoe I came to know would have wanted it that way.

GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL SOCCER

Lady Bearcats split four matches; District showdown at Shelby awaits

By John Herndon
Sports Editor

The scorecard will show that the Anderson County girls' soccer team split four matches last week. The eyes, however, saw a team that is coming together and should be a force by the end of the year.

The Lady Bearcats defeated district rival Spencer County and routed regional foe Owen County, but lost to highly-regarded Boyle County and North Oldham during the past week. Another contest against Western Hills, was scheduled for Monday night after press deadlines.

The Spencer contest, played last Wednesday, was undoubtedly the most important one of the week, due to its bearing on seeding for the 30th District Tournament. The contest, at Spencer, was delayed 30 minutes because of lightning, then eventually stopped when more lightning was sighted in the area, but Anderson pulled away to a 1-0 win.

"We were slow to start, but so was Spencer County," Anderson coach Jason Earnest said. "We were getting a couple of early chances, but we just looked slow. The passing was slow, our runs were slow, everything seemed slow."

Anderson junior Madeline Wilson scored the game's only goal. Earnest said the shot, which was taken from approximately 25 yards, was "a super shot that was in the far upper corner of the goal."

Earnest said Anderson had several chances to pad its lead but just missed. He also noted that Anderson goalie Billie Clark made several strong saves when Spencer, the defending 30th District champs, made an attack on goal.

Five minutes into the second half, lightning in the area stopped play, but after another round of lightning was spotted a few minutes later, the game was called and Anderson credited with the victory. Earnest noted that while the Spencer pitch was in good shape, the lights were not working, prompting the game stoppage.

Last Monday, the Lady Bearcats hosted perennially strong Boyle County. For the final 77 minutes, things were even, but for the Lady Bearcats the problem came in the first 180 seconds as Boyle scored twice.

"The second half is where all the action was," Earnest said. "A lot of no-calls in the first half led to players fouling harder and being more aggressive in the second."

Wilson drew Anderson within 2-1, but Boyle answered with a score off a free kick to make it 3-1, then pushed it to 4-1 when another free kick bounced over Clark and a Boyle player followed with a goal.

"Two quick goals could have broken us, but we got more aggressive and really played tough the rest of the game," said Earnest.

A Boyle penalty kick put things out of reach with a penalty kick, but with 18 minutes to play, Wilson answered with her own penalty kick to make it 5-2. Inside the 71st minute, Allie Johnson converted a Taylor Harley pass into another goal to complete the scoring.

"The game ended 5-3, but it was a slugfest and both teams came out beaten up," Earnest said. "It was probably our best game against the best competition we have faced."

Thursday, the Lady Bearcats pounded an overmatched Owen County, 10-0, in Owenton. Eight different Anderson players found the net.

Saturday, Eighth Region foe North Oldham visited Lawrenceburg and came away with a 3-1 rain-delayed win. North Oldham scored twice in the second half to pull away with the win.

Lady Bearcats take on Shelby

Anderson is scheduled to play at 30th District foe Shelby County tonight, Wednesday, Sept. 3, in Shelbyville. An Anderson win will put the Lady Bearcats in the driver's seat for the top seed in the district tournament.

Morgan leads golf Cats over Sayre

By John Herndon
Sports Editor

Anderson County overcame some early missed shots to nip Lexington Sayre 154-155 in boys' high school golf action last Tuesday at Wild Turkey Trace Golf Course.

"We were fortunate that Sayre's five-man missed a par putt on the final hole," said Anderson coach Jim Beward. "That said, I thought we hung tough despite some poor shots early and managed to get a couple of needed birdies later in the round."

Jordan Morgan led Anderson with a one-under 35 and tied with Sayre's Chris Saad for the low score of the day but Saad claimed the medalist honor on a scorecard playoff. "This was his best effort since the death of his grandfather and showed the return of his early season form," Beward said of Morgan.

Zach Towles followed Morgan with a 37 while Tyler Brothers scored 40.

"If we are to make a repeat trip to Bowling Green (for the state tournament), the lower end of the lineup must improve. Course management, while better today, must continue to get better and we've got to more efficient in capitalizing on our opportunities."

Kirby changes mind, will not rejoin team

Beward had announced that senior Mitch Kirby had rejoined the team after going to Army boot camp in the summer.

However, Beward said last Tuesday that Kirby had changed his mind and elected not to play.

downs.

"The line was just pushing them back," added Anderson senior Brayden Russell, who ran for 79 yards and a touchdown, all in what amounted to a first half coming-out party.

"Brayden is very tough," Carmichael said. "We see what he can do every day in practice so it was no surprise to us."

Martin added 75 yards and a score on the ground while Chris Toomey scored twice and contributed 47 yards rushing.

The Bearcats wasted no time in establishing superiority over a team that has not had a winning season since 2009.

After holding Clark to a three-and-out on the opening drive, the Bearcats marched 75 yards in eight plays with Toomey doing the scoring honors from five yards out.

Just over four minutes later, Carmichael walked untouched into the end zone to finish a seven-play, 52-yard drive. Landon Curry's extra point made it 14-0. No muss, no fuss. An apparent rout was on.

But when a Bearcat second-quarter drive ended with a bad snap over Curry, in punt formation, gave Clark the ball at the Anderson 16, the Cardinals seemed to be in business.

"Every setback is a set up for a comeback," Peach said.

On fourth-and-1, the Bearcats held.

While Clark eventually took advantage of the field position to score on the next drive a tone had been set.

"Every set back is a set up for a comeback," Peach said again. "They scored, but what did we do? We came back and blocked the extra point."

Nathan McGregor got through the Clark line for the block.

"Even though we gave up things, our defense held," Peach said. "I couldn't be more pleased."

Anderson County's Dusty Puckett (11) and Austin Phillips stop George Rogers Clark runner Shawn Willhite during Friday's game.

True to opening game form, there were some kinks and the Bearcats did not score 100 on their first test. Beside the bad snap in punt formation, the Bearcats had an offside on a kickoff and Carmichael completed just four passes in 13 attempts for 34 yards.

Peach was not concerned.

"We didn't turn it over offensively," Peach said. "We didn't fumble the ball or throw an interception. The passing game is going to be fine."

"What I was really tickled with was running the ball: (Bryndon) Labhart, Martin, Toomey, Russell. We had a lot of different people that made contributions."

"This was a great first game."

DRAGONS

son and still defeated South 29-19.

Peach picks up the history.

"In 2010 (Reed's first year), it was a cliffhanger," Peach recalls.

In that one, Anderson trailed 37-10 but miraculously scored 28 straight points, then held on a crucial fourth down late in the game to post a 38-37 win at South. It was the last of five games the teams played as district rivals.

"When we played them in 2011 (in the first round of the Class 5A playoffs), it was an ESPN Classic," Peach continued. "It came down to the last possession of the game." Anderson won that one 33-26.

The teams did not play in 2012, but resumed the series as non-district foes last year, when Anderson won 35-20. "Was that not one of the most entertaining high school football games you have seen?" Peach asked. "It came down to (Darius) Harvey making that incredible interception and Ryan Martin making a 90-some yard run."

Harvey picked off a screen pass and returned it 48 yards for a score, while Martin sealed the deal with a 93-yard run in the final 90 seconds.

"That was a great football game," Peach said. "That is what we will be up against."

The Dragons boast one of Kentucky's best linebackers in senior Conor John. "He is really good," Peach said. "I remember him from last year and what an outstanding football player he is."

Kevin Kuriger, who ran for 67 yards against Anderson last year, is also back.

Senior quarterback Michael McGee, in his first year at the helm, is solid, and the Dragons have several other weapons. "They are a lot like us because they can hurt you in so many ways."

But there is one major difference between the schools, which are similar in size. They have played 10 times, dating to 1993, with Anderson winning every single time.

"Could you not mention that?" Peach chuckled lightly. "Coach Reed says that every time I see him."

Eventually, South Oldham will defeat Anderson County in football. It could be Friday night. South has not experienced the post-season success of the Bearcats, never advancing past the second round of the state playoffs. However, the Dragons are going for their third straight district title.

"They are an outstanding football team," Peach said. "We will have our work cut out for us."

to the play-by-play on Internet radio at www.pegasussportsky.com. The game will also be streamed on Internet TV. Mike Montgomery, the longtime voice of Oldham County sports, and Scott Jagers will be handling the play-by-play and color duties.

Around the region

There were no major surprises in Class 5A, Region 3 during the second week of high school football in Kentucky.

In District 6, where Anderson resides, the Bearcats and Franklin County both had impressive wins.

District 5 looks strong in the early going. While many around the state saw South Oldham's whipping of defending 4A state champ Collins as an upset, those closer to the programs were not surprised.

Also in District 5, Cooper has gotten off to a 2-0 start with wins over Ryle and Newport Central Catholic. Some expected Cooper to struggle after heavy graduation losses, but the early going seems to indicate the Jaguars will be a contender.

GOLF

Hanks smiles. In high school golf, five players form a team with the highest score being discarded.

"Right now, we are just going back to the basics," said Hanks, an Anderson graduate who played on the school's boys' state tournament team in 1981. "Once you get those fundamentals down, it is just a matter of time."

Hanks has no illusions of a regional title this year. Taylor County, which won the JOY Invitational this year, is considered very strong.

"I just want to see improvement from tournament to tournament," he says. "It would be a nice trend to see continued improvement."

Lady Bearcats compete at Juniper Hills

The Anderson County girls' golf team placed 13th out of 17 teams in Saturday's Gene Hilan Invitational at Juniper Hills Golf Course in Frankfort.

The Lady Bearcats compiled a 408 team score, well behind tournament champion Sacred Heart, which fired a 309. Henry Clay, with a 315, placed second with Shelby County coming in third at 317.

Shelby's Lily Young took the individual title with a 4-under 69.

Christina Montgomery led the Lady Bearcats with a 99.

"McKenna Lewis showed a great deal of dedication and grit, playing through a great deal of back pain before having to withdraw after playing 13 holes," Anderson coach Robbie Hanks said. "The girls continue to make improvements with their games and are showing a more consistent team scoring average. Our short term goals are to continue to be more consistent, reduce any unnecessary silly mistakes and to reach a team total score under the 400 mark."

HOROSCOPES

December 22–January 19

You lead a charmed life this week. Capricorn. Everything is magic. A deadline is extended, allowing more time for research. Hop to it!

March 21–April 19

Whining will get you nowhere fast, Aries. Try lodging a formal complaint instead. A youngster bombards you with questions. Be kind.

June 22–July 22

Change is coming, Cancer, but it is not to be feared. A transportation drama ensues. Resolve it once and for all. Trouble is brewing at home.

September 23–October 22

Notes are required. Don't rely upon memory alone to get you through a presentation, Libra. You could forget something vital to the conversation.

January 20–February 18

The feeling is mutual, Aquarius. You can stop the pretense. A financial risk is worth taking. Pursue it with a vengeance. Romance blooms.

April 20–May 20

A-ha, Taurus. Your commitment and dedication to a cause begin to pay off. A switch in personnel leads to some issues at the office. Hang in there.

July 23–August 22

Romance moves front and center. It may be time for a trip. A financial matter is settled in your favor. Excellent, Leo. A friend breaks a promise.

October 23–November 21

Yikes, Scorpio. You nearly missed an opportunity. Don't let it happen again. Get your ducks in a row now. A lapse in concentration lands a loved one in hot water.

February 19–March 20

Fall colors inspire a facelift at home. Make sure the budget meets the scope of the project, Pisces. Friends return a favor in an unusual way.

May 21–June 21

There is a learning curve to almost everything, Gemini. Don't expect perfection right off the bat. Snooze at work, and you will most certainly miss out.

August 23–September 22

Victory will be yours, Virgo, if you let it. You can be your own worst enemy. Memories come flooding back at the sight of an old friend.

November 22–December 21

Paperwork, paperwork and more paperwork. Take the time to sift through it all, Sagittarius. There is much to be learned. A date draws near.

ESTATE AUCTION

A HISTORICAL LANDMARK
Home of the late Marvin Puckett
Saturday, September 13, 2014, at 9:30 a.m.

Will be sold on site at 1419 Willisburg Road in Western Anderson County

DIRECTIONS: From Lawrenceburg take Highway 62 West to Highway 53, turn south on 53 and go approximately 3 miles to the property and watch for the auction signs

We have been directed by Michael Puckett, executor of the Marvin Puckett estate, to offer this property at auction on the above date.

This is a historical landmark in Anderson County. In 1878, a small country village came into existence, and it was given the name of Ashbrook. At one point, it had a post office, stores, even a millinery shop. According to information provided, only two of the original buildings are left — the Puckett home and store building.

If you are looking for small acreage (13.25± AC) with an older country home, a barn and other outbuildings, then you should look at this property. This will be great for anyone who would enjoy updating an older home and the challenge of rugged terrain. This home is a 1.5-story frame that the PVA records indicate contains 2,400± sq. ft. This information is not warranted by the auction company. You also have an older country store building and other outbuildings. This property is being sold according to the legal description in the current deed or other existing deeds. Purchaser is responsible for verifying this information.

NOTICE: This home was built prior to 1978 and has the potential of having lead base paint. Lead paint inspection and all other inspections are to be performed prior to the auction.

TERMS: Purchaser will be required to make a 10% deposit with the auction purchase contract and the balance will be due with the deed on or before October 13, 2014. This property is being SOLD AS IS WHERE IS with no warranties expressed or implied by the executor or Birdwhistell Realty & Auction Co. Announcements the day of the auction will take precedence over printed or verbal information. NO BUYERS PREMIUM.

PERSONAL PROPERTY: Cash, Check, Visa, Master Card or Discovery. 10% Buyers Premium on all personal property.

To view this property, contact our office at 502-839-3456.
